CHAPTER III. The Garden Fete.

IE gardens of Mme. Sonia Sadowa's villa, just outside Paris, were gayly decorated for a lawn fete. The grounds were dotted with laughing groups of brightly dressed men and women, for Sonia had particularly requested that all her Marsovian guesta wear their picturesque native costume, and the result was a veritable kaleidoscopic carnival of color, a perfect riot of gorgeous bues and striking figures.

"I've had my eye on her, and it seems to me that De Jolidon"-

"De Jolidon!" exclaimed Danilo. 'Impossible!"

"Why impossible, pray? I think I have as good eyes as any man. I think, sir, I can detect love when I see it. And from the way De Jolidon looks at the widow-why, man, I don't know a single thing that doesn't point toward his being in love with her.

"If I may say so, your excellency," put in Nish, shuffling nervously, "I think I could tell you of a 'single' thing, or, rather," he added, chuckling, "when I say 'single' I mean 'married.'"

"Mr. Nish," interrupted Popoff, "if you can stop wriggling around like an inebriated centiped long enough to talk plainly, will you do me the honor to put your blitherings into plain words?"

"Well, your excellency," stammered but my wife is a born diplomatist! Nova Kovitch was convinced, and I pocketed the fan for future reference." Danilo took the trinket from Popoff's hands and read the penciled inscrip-

"Why," he said on impulse, "this is De Jolidon's handwriting! How does it happen that he".

"Then," squealed Popoff in triumph, "it is Mme. Nova Kovitch he loves. The whole thing is absurdly simple when a brain like mine is brought to bear on it!"

Delighted with his own astuteness, the ambassador pattered off to join the other guests, leaving Danilo, fan in hand, blankly facing the astounded lit-

"Nisn," observed the prince, "do you suppose it's possible De Jolidon can be in love with Mme. Nova Kevitch as well as with Mme. Popoff?"

"I'd-I'd like to think so," murmured Nish as he started faithfully off in the wake of his chief. "I'd like to think so, It-it would make it less exclusive, less of a monopoly. And to think his excellency never recognized his own wife's fan! Where ignorance is bliss why read up on divorce laws?"

Laying the fan on a nearby table, Danilo was turning away when a voice behind him called mockingly: "Still in retreat? So you are afras

Whirling about, the prince faced Sonia. She was bewitchingly pretty in the black and gold Marsovian dress that snowed to fullest advantage every willowy line of her figure.

"I'm not retreating," he contradicted.

The neglected fan lying on the table caught Sonia's eye. She picked it up idly and opened it. The words "I love you" met her gaze. Quickly she glanced at Danilo.

"I understand," she murmured to herself. "He vowed he'd never say it to me, so he's written it."

Noting that Danilo's back was toward her, she furtively lifted the fan o ber lips and kissed the written words. Then as she restored it to the table she whispered:

"Just the same; I'll make him say ft. He shall!"

She crossed to where he stood. "Have you nothing to say to m prince?" she asked. "Only one thing-goodby!"

"Goodby!" she echoed. "You'reyou're not going?" "I leave Paris tomorrow morning-by the first train-forever!" "Then you won't be here, after all, to dance at my wedding?" "But you promised. And now, I suppose, I shall never see you again, for when I'm married I shall live in Paris." "I thought you were more patriotic," he sighed. "It seems hard that you should turn your back on your native land, marry a Frenchman and settle here."

"Yet it is what I have decided," she answered. "This is probably the last time I shall wear our native costume or dance our wild national dances. Today's fete is a sort of farewell to old

"No; our dances and costumes would not appeal to a Frenchman. Who is it you are going to marry?" "The engagement isn't announced yet," she evaded.

"Then," he returned, with a shrug, "I suppose I shall never know, for I leave early tomorrow."

"And you won't dance at my wed-"I've told you I would not."

"If you won't," she cried, a sudden inspiration flashing through her mind and lighting her pale face to damling beauty, "dance with me now!"

She stretched out her slender white arms with an allurement that no mortal man could resist.

Help for Those Who Have Stomach Trouble.

After doctoring for about twelve years for a bad stomach trouble, and spending nearly five hundred dollars for medicine and doctors' fees, I purbox of sed my wife one lain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which did her so much good that she which did her so much good that she continued to use them and they have done her more good than all of the medicine I bought before.—SAMUEL BOYER, Folsom, Iowa. Twenty-Five Cents is the Price of Peace.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Would Have Saved Him $100.00.

"In 1902 I had a very severe attack of diarrhoea," says R. N. Farrar of Cat Island, La. "For several weeks was unable to do anything. On March 18, 1907, I had a similar attack, and took Chamberlain's Cholic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which gave me prompt relief. I consider it one of the best medicines of its kind in the world, and had I used it in 1902 believe it would have saved me a hundred dollar doctor's bill." Sold by Frank Hart and leading druggists.

Boy's Life Saved.

My little boy, four years old, had a severe attack of dysentery. We had two physicians; both of them gave him up. We then gave him Chamber-lain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy which cured him and believe that saved his life.-William H. Strolling, Carbon Hill, Ala. There is no doubt but this remedy saves the lives of many children each year. Give it with castor oil according to the plain printed directions and a cure is certain. For sale by Frank Hart and leading druggists.

Over Thirty-Five Years.

In 1872 there was a great deal of diarrhoea, dysentary and cholera in-fantum. It was at this time that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was first brought into use. It proved more successful than any other remedy or treatment, and has for thirty-five years maintained that record. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to every part of the United States and to many foreign countries. Nine druggists out of ten will recommend it when their opinion is asked, although they have other medicines that pay them a greater profit. It can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. For sale by Frank Hart and leading druggists.

"I'm here," he replied bluntly, "be cause I'm making it my business to get rid of every Frenchman who shows signs of proposing to you."

"But why?" she asked in wonder. "For my own amusement; that's all," "You-you don't happen to be in love with me yourself?" she asked, a tinge of wistfulness in the light mockery of her tone.

"Certainly not!" he retorted, with suspicious promptitude.

"You're very, very rude!" she reproved. "But since you don't love me you ought to be able to give me good advice about accepting a man I really want to marry."

"Oh!" growled Danilo, chagrined. Then there is some one you want to marry?" She nodded.

"Whoever the man is, he's after "No," she contradicted. "He is not-not this one." "You said all men were alike."

"This man is different. He loves me." "Then marry him! What is it to me? Marry any one you want to. I don't care. And I'll dance at your wedding I'll dance till I wear holes through both my shoes."
